"The Washington Post" edition of March 25, 1966, contained an article concerning State Department policies with respect to individuals traveling abroad and reported on the action of Philip Heymann in canceling an alleged request for surveillance of Henry Stuart Hughes who was planning a trip to Europe. The Director noted "What do we know of Philip Heymann?" In this connection, memorandum of March 22, 1966, captioned "Philip Benjamin Heymann, Acting Administrator, Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, Department of State," identified Heymann as a former Deputy to Abba P. Schwartz, at the time Schwartz was Administrator of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs. Heymann became Acting Administrator of that Bureau when Schwartz left his post.

Heymann is thirty-three years old and a graduate of Harvard Law School, where he received his degree in 1960. He ranked third in his graduating law class of 468. He was graduated from Yale University in 1954 where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He studied at the University of Paris in France in 1954 and 1955, under a Fulbright Scholarship and served on active duty with the United States Air Force as a Second Lieutenant from September, 1955, to September, 1957. Prior to going to the Department of State in August, 1965, Heymann was employed in the Solicitor General's Office. In 1961, the Bureau conducted a departmental applicant investigation concerning him which was favorable.

ADD 1 SURVEILLANCE, WASHINGTON (UPI-116)

OTHER GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS CONCERNED WITH SECURITY MATTERS STRONGLY DEFENDED THE PROCEDURE FOLLOWED IN HUGHES' CASE. THESE OFFICIALS SAID THE REQUEST FOR INFORMATION WAS ROUTINE AND THAT HUGHES HAD NOT BEEN SINGLED OUT.

"WHENEVER ANYONE ABOUT WHOM WE HAVE ANY QUESTION AT ALL GOES OVERSEAS, THE FBI AS A MATTER OF PROCEDURE ASKS THE STATE DEPARTMENT TO PROVIDE ANY PERTINENT INFORMATION ON HIS ACTIVITIES ABROAD," ONE OFFICIAL SAID.

MCCLOSKEY SAID EARLIER THAT THE REPORT WAS REQUESTED BECAUSE HUGHES WAS SAID TO HAVE HAD "STRONG CONVICTIONS TOWARD COMMUNISM" IN THE PAST. MCCLOSKEY SAID THE DEPARTMENT DID NOT PIN THIS LABEL ON HUGHES, LEAVING THE INFERENCE IT CAME FROM THE FBI.

KENNEDY SAID IT WAS IMPORTANT TO KNOW WHO DECIDES WHETHER A TRAVELER HAS COMMUNIST LEANINGS, WHETHER THE PASSPORT OFFICE IS CONFIRMING THIS JUDGMENT IN REQUESTING SURVEILLANCE AND WHAT USE IS MADE OF ANY INFORMATION TURNED UP.

Reference is made to the 3/22/66 memorandum from Mr. Bland to you in the above captioned matter. Captioned individual has taken issue with the Passport Office procedure in advising American embassies abroad concerning the travel of U. S. citizens. By outgoing communication dated 3/16/66, Heymann advised American embassies in Moscow and Paris to disregard and take no action on the State airgram of 3/8/66 which advised of the proposed travel of Henry Stuart Hughes.

Liaison was instructed to contact Deputy Under Secretary of State William J. Crockett and advise him of our practice of furnishing State with pertinent information regarding subversives traveling abroad and that the decision to alert embassies abroad is up to State. It was further recommended that Mr. Crockett be furnished the background of the Henry Stuart Hughes case. On 3/24/66, Liaison Agent Bartlett complied with the above recommendation. At that time, Mr. Crockett was furnished a memorandum concerning the Hughes case and he was also briefed concerning our practice of keeping State advised of subversives who travel abroad. He was shown the type of form letter (5-144) which is used to advise State, [redacted] and our Legal Attaches. It was clearly pointed out to him that this form letter asks only that the Bureau be advised of any pertinent information that may be received regarding the subject while traveling abroad and that the letter does not levy a requirement on State to advise the embassies of proposed travel.

Pursuant to instructions, Bartlett also called Mr. Crockett's attention to the article in "The New York Times" of 3/23/66 which indicated that Heymann had rebuked Miss Frances Knight, Director of the Passport Office, for her action in alerting our embassies in Moscow and Paris to the travel of Professor Hughes of Harvard. Bartlett told

RE: PHILIP BENJAMIN HEYMANN,

Mr. Crockett that a State Department spokesman had told the press that the FBI requested State to take action on the proposed travel of Hughes and that this was not the truth and that we resented being dragged into this squabble which is taking place within State and protested this vigorously.

Mr. Crockett advised that he is in complete sympathy with the Bureau's position in this matter and that this whole thing has disturbed him greatly. He indicated that one of his special assistants, George French (a retired Army intelligence Colonel) is conducting an inquiry within State to determine the person responsible for the leak to the press. Mr. Crockett advised that a letter had been received from Senator Edward M. Kennedy by Secretary Rusk making reference to "The New York Times" article and asking several questions concerning State Department policy on U. S. citizens traveling abroad. Mr. Crockett said that he will keep the Bureau advised concerning the inquiry now going on at State and of any decisions reached as an outgrowth of this current problem.

On 3/23/66, Miss Frances Knight, Director of the Passport Office, asked to see Bartlett while he was at State. Miss Knight advised that she wants the Bureau to know that no one in the Passport Office leaked information on the Hughes case to "The New York Times" and that she strongly suspects either Heymann or Abba P. Schwartz, who recently resigned as Administrator, Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, State. Miss Knight indicated that Heymann came to her office at 8:50 a.m., 3/23/66, soon after the story appeared in "The New York Times" of that same date. Miss Knight handed Bartlett a copy of her memorandum to Heymann, dated 3/23/66, which set forth a chronology of events involving the Hughes matter (copy enclosed). Miss Knight emphasized the point that the routine notification to U. S. embassies abroad concerning proposed travel of U. S. citizens calls for no action on the part of the embassies other than advising State of pertinent information coming to the embassies' attention. Miss Knight's memorandum, which contains her differences of opinion with Heymann, should be made a part of the Bureau file in this matter.

Airgram to Moscow and Paris re: Henry Stuart Hughes

*Rec'd 3/23/66
from Miss Knight State*

I make reference to your conversation with me on Wednesday morning, March 16, 1966, regarding the airgram sent to the American Embassies in Moscow and Paris concerning Henry Stuart Hughes.

As I explained to you, this type of airgram is routine and it is sent in accordance with a request, also routine, from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. So routine is such a request that I do not see nor do I personally sign airgrams of this type.

I have been under the impression that if the FBI requests information, routine or otherwise, the Department cooperates. At least I have not been informed otherwise.

The procedure which I explained to you has been followed for several decades to the best of my knowledge. It was not conceived by me,

Our records show that about 5 P.M. on March 10, 1966, Mr. David Kenney of your office requested Mr. Johnson to send to your office the passport folder of Henry Stuart Hughes. He said you desired to review the folder in connection with an airgram prepared by the Passport Office. He indicated that you had received two copies of the airgram.

The attorney in the Passport Office who had handled the Hughes matter was working on a priority case at the time of Mr. Kenney's call. The Hughes passport folder, however, was hastily assembled and sent to your office about 9 A.M. the following morning, March 11, 1966. Because of the haste and by inadvertence, the security information relating to Mr. Hughes was not placed back in the folder. Our records further show that the Hughes folder was returned to my office later in the day on March 11, 1966. It was, in turn, forwarded to our Security Branch.

When you spoke to me about the case on Wednesday morning, March 16th, you said that the "7th floor" was greatly concerned over a "leak to a newspaper" regarding the Hughes case. You said that the document in question was classified and that it bore my name. You intimated that I was under suspicion. I did not recall it immediately, and when you showed me the document, I remembered that we had discussed it the previous Friday and

I explained

ENCLOSURE

ENCLOSURE

I explained to you that it was a routine field request sent out on individuals in the Hughes category. I had not seen the airgram prior to your handing it to me on Wednesday morning, March 16th, and so informed you. I pointed out the distribution record showed SCA received four copies of the outgoing, plus two carbon copies of the original. There were seven copies sent to INR and one to RM/R and one to OC/T and three to the FBI. You specifically told me you were against the Passport Office getting involved in internal security and you used the term "investigate". I explained to you then, as well as on the previous Friday in the presence of Mr. Johnson, that we do not, I repeat NOT, request posts overseas to "investigate" anything.

I then asked you the name of the newspaper to whom the contents of the airgram had been "leaked" and you told me it was the New York Times. You also advised me that Mr. Crockett had concurred in your recommendation that an instruction be sent to the posts involved, cancelling the request made in the original airgram. I told you I thought this was a mistake since there was nothing ~~miss~~ in sending out a routine request for information which was requested by the FBI. You said you did not think the FBI asked for information on Hughes and I said I did not know for sure but since we sent out the airgram, I thought they did. Mr. Johnson recalls advising you the previous Friday that this was an FBI request. You then advised me that you had already sent out the cancelling instruction. I again warned you were making a serious mistake and the only answer to the New York Times should have been that the document was classified and would not be discussed.

On Saturday the strategy behind the frantic concern for Henry Stuart Hughes, the Department's cancellation of the airgram, as well as the New York Times' role in running down the story, became more evident. I had a call on Saturday, March 19, 1966, from someone claiming to represent the newspaper and was asked what I know about the airgram "requesting an investigation of Professor Hughes' travel". The reporter knew that the airgram was sent to Moscow and Paris. He also knew the date of the airgram and said my name appeared on it. This would indicate there was no "leak" but evidently a hand-out to the New York Times with a very specific purpose in mind.

I informed the caller that I knew nothing about the airgram, that such messages were routine and referred him to you since he had precisely the same information you gave me. I said I had been out of the country for five weeks and was just catching up with my work.

Still more peculiar is the fact that the New York Times is now reportedly asking questions about the countermanding order.

I have very

I have very reliable information that Mr. Schwartz spent considerable time in his office following his resignation, calling reporters and peddling highly inflammatory stories about me to the press. He is reported to have said that he would drag me out with him if it was the last thing he did. I don't know whether this is true or not, and I do not care. But it should be kept in mind that Mr. Abba Schwartz was at his desk for a number of days after his resignation from the Department, and the outgoing airgram was floating around SCA while he was there. Mr. Schwartz' antagonism to any cooperation or contact we had with the FBI is a matter of general knowledge.

I understand that a number of individuals were either called upon or jumped in on their own volition to help in the handling of this latest State Department-press fiasco. Why was I not called upon? Why, for instance, were Mr. Gerson Lush and Miss Christine Camp consulted when the simple, forthright action would have been to call the Passport Office for the facts?

At my request, I called and saw Mr. Robert McCloskey late yesterday afternoon. I was amazed at Mr. McCloskey's lack of basic information on the case. He said he was trying to untangle a situation but he was using the word "investigation", which would tie his source of information back to the original lie. We do not, and never did, ask for investigations. Certainly after all these years Mr. Crockett knows this, and Mr. McCloskey should know the Department's policy.

According to the New York Times of March 23rd, a Department "spokesman" said that Mr. Crockett "endorsed" the memorandum of instructions which you sent to me on March 14, 1966, and which was maliciously described in the New York Times as a "rebuke" to me. Who was the Department's spokesman? Mr. McCloskey? Mr. Gerson Lush? Mr. Heymann? Miss Camp?

How is it that the New York Times printed virtually word for word, certain phrases in your "policy" memorandum of March 14, 1966, which was classified as "CONFIDENTIAL"? Was this stamped "Confidential" to restrict Passport Office use, or was it but a "come and get it" policy for the New York Times?

Your visit to my office this morning at 8:50 A.M. to express concern, surprise and distress over the New York Times story did not impress me. It would have been more appropriate for you to be conferring with Mr. Crockett by that time and preparing a statement pinning the lie on the Department's

"spokesman" and

"spokesman" and expressing concern about the apparent ability of the Times to get hold of a classified document, especially one relating to the FBI and the Passport Office.

The New York Post has now jumped into the fray, no doubt to save Professor Hughes from the dangerous, reactionary persecution of the Passport Office. I have refused to talk to the New York Post. I have also refused to talk to the New York Times.

This memorandum is not classified because everything in it has been published by the New York Times. A copy is being sent to each of the offices on distribution for the first outgoing airgram.

(STATE DEPT.)

WASHINGTON--THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS THE CENTER OF A DISPUTE TODAY OVER A REQUEST FOR TWO U.S. EMBASSIES TO REPORT ON ACTIVITIES OF A HARVARD PROFESSOR PLANNING A TRIP ABROAD.

THE PROFESSOR IS HISTORIAN H. STUART HUGHES OF HARVARD, WHO RAN AS INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE IN 1962 FOR THE U.S. SENATE SEAT FROM MASSACHUSETTS WON BY EDWARD M. KENNEDY.

STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER MCCLOSKEY TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THE DEPARTMENT'S PASSPORT OFFICE ON MARCH 8 SENT AN AIRGRAM TO THE U.S. EMBASSIES IN MOSCOW AND PARIS REQUESTING INFORMATION ON HUGHES.

ACCORDING TO MCCLOSKEY, THE AIRGRAM SAID HUGHES "REPORTEDLY IN THE PAST HAS HAD STRONG CONVICTIONS TOWARD COMMUNISM." MCCLOSKEY SAID THAT, ON BEHALF OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT, HE WAS NOT ADOPTING THIS LABEL OF HUGHES' BELIEFS.

HE SAID THAT THE AIRGRAM ASKED THE EMBASSIES TO NOTIFY THE DEPARTMENT IF "PERTINENT INFORMATION IS RECEIVED CONCERNING THE SUBJECT'S ACTIVITIES."

THE AIRGRAM LATER WAS RESCINDED IN A DISPUTE OVER PROCEDURE. INFORMED SOURCES SAID FRANCES KNIGHT, HEAD OF THE PASSPORT OFFICE, WAS CALLED TO A MEETING WITH PHILIP B. HEYMANN, ACTING HEAD OF THE BUREAU OF SECURITY AND CONSULAR AFFAIRS, WHICH INCLUDES THE PASSPORT OFFICE. MISS KNIGHT REPORTEDLY WAS TOLD THAT SUCH MESSAGES SHOULD NOT BE SENT WITHOUT CLEARANCE FROM HIS BUREAU.

HEYMANN SAIGNED A MEMORANDUM MARCH 14 TO THE SAME EFFECT. THE MEMORANDUM LEAKED OUT AND WAS REPORTED AS A "REBUKE" OF MISS KNIGHT. MCCLOSKEY DENIED THAT IT WAS "INTENDED OR TAKEN AS A REBUKE."

ON MARCH 16, THE PASSPORT OFFICE CABLED MOSCOW AND PARIS TO "DISREGARD" THE ORIGINAL AIRGRAM. MCCLOSKEY SAID NEW PROCEDURES WERE BEING PUT INTO EFFECT REQUIRING CLEARANCE BY THE BUREAU SUPERVISING THE PASSPORT OFFICE.

ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL SOURCES, HEYMANN'S OFFICE HAD AT FIRST BEEN UNAWARE THAT THE INFORMATION SOUGHT IN THE AIRGRAM HAD BEEN REQUESTED BY THE FBI. MCCLOSKEY SAID THE FBI REQUEST TO THE PASSPORT OFFICE WAS MADE FEB. 6.

Tilting With Barbed Memos

State's Miss Knight Throws the Gauntlet

By RICHARD H. BOYCE
 Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

Frances G. Knight, controversial director of the U.S. Passport Office, charged today that an official Government document, classified "confidential," was deliberately leaked to the New York Times "in an effort to discredit me and cause embarrassment."

She said the move was part of a "vigorous character assassination of Frances Knight and the Passport Office," and told a reporter, "Some groups are out to get me."

Miss Knight spoke of the leak in a memorandum to her boss, and broadly hinted that he was responsible for the leak. Her boss is Philip B. Heymann, acting administrator of the State Department's Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs. Miss Knight's Passport Office is a part of that Bureau.

WROTE

Knight wrote:

In her memorandum, Miss Knight wrote: "As far as I am concerned, it is an established fact that the New York Times was deliberately made privy to classified information of the official use only and confidential category in an effort to discredit me and cause embarrassment."

(The Times on Wednesday published an article saying Mr. Heymann sent Miss Knight a memorandum which "reproved" her for sending a message to two U.S. Embassies abroad without proper authorization. The Times reported the contents of Mr. Heymann's memorandum at length. This is the memorandum which Miss Knight charges was leaked to the Times and should not have been made public.)

In another memorandum, Miss Knight asked Mr. Heymann:

"How is it that the New York Times printed virtually word for word certain phrases in your 'policy' memorandum of March 14, 1966, which was classified as confidential? Was this stamped confidential to restrict Passport Office use, or was it but a 'come and get it' policy for the New York Times?"

The "confidential" document was written after the two discussed a message sent March 8 from the Passport Office to U.S. Embassies in Paris and Moscow. That message advised the Embassies that a Harvard history professor, Henry Stuart Hughes, would visit those countries later this year and that he "reportedly in the past has had strong convictions toward communism." The message asked the Embassies to notify the Department "if pertinent information is received concerning the subject's (Mr. Hughes) activities."

The Passport Office for "several decades," Miss Knight said, has sent such messages to Embassies abroad when they were requested by authorized Government investigative agencies. She said they are "routine field messages." She said the message regarding Prof. Hughes was requested by the FBI.

UNAWARE

Mr. Heymann, apparently unaware of the FBI request, sent new messages instructing the Embassies to disregard the March 8 request. He then told Miss Knight that in the future, such messages, even when requested by an authorized agency, must be cleared by him.

His memorandum to her — the one quoted by the Times — said investigative responsibilities should not be assumed without the request of an authorized agency.

Miss Knight wrote Mr. Heymann:

"You intimated that I was under suspicion ... You said you did not think the FBI asked for information on Hughes. Mr. Johnson (Robert D. Johnson, Passport Office chief counsel) recalls advising you the previous Friday March 11 that this was an FBI request.

"I warned you were making a serious mistake and the only answer to the New York Times should have been that the document was classified and would not be discussed."

Miss Knight has been under fire before. She opposed in 1962 the policy of giving persons who were denied passports on security grounds the right to review evidence against them and confront informants.

"But I would issue a passport

FRANCES G. KNIGHT

to a monkey," she insisted today, "if they told me to. All I ask is that they spell out policy." She said "they" meant high State Department officials.

"But policy is always changing according to who is up there on the seventh floor," she said. "This leak to the Times was not a leak; it was a handout. Some creeps are out to get me. They are saying that this airgram to the Embassies requested an investigation of Hughes' activities. That's not true. We do not, I repeat not, investigate anything.

"The only thing that saves me is I am Civil Service or I'd be out of here in 24 hours. I don't want to be an ambassador or be promoted; I only want to run the Passport Office."

She criticized Abba P. Schwartz, who, resigned three weeks ago as head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, calling his term in office "the era of Schwartzism." Mr. Schwartz quit in anger when he learned his job was to be abolished, and charged that right wing elements conspired to eliminate him because of his liberal views on admitting to the U.S. controversial immigrants. Mr. Heymann replaced Mr. Schwartz.

Reference is made to my memorandum to you dated 3/24/66, setting forth developments in connection with the State Department handling of the Henry Stuart Hughes case. The press, including the Washington papers, have been carrying articles concerning this matter during the past two days. On a copy of a news service dispatch the Director noted in connection with the Hughes case, "We certainly have gotten into a mess over this. Cut out all requests of State Department for such information. H." Following this the Director noted on referenced memorandum, "As previously indicated FBI will not ask State Department for any information in view of Heymann's cancellation in the Hughes matter. Crockett should be advised of my action since it appears Heymann has changed a procedure of cooperation in existence for 30 years. H."

Pursuant to instructions, on 3/25/66, Liaison Agent Bartlett called on Deputy Under Secretary of State William J. Crockett and advised him that as a result of State Department action in the Hughes case, the FBI in the future will not request any information from State on United States citizens traveling abroad. Mr. Crockett was advised that for 30 years there has been excellent cooperation between the Bureau and State on this subject matter and apparently Mr. Heymann's action has changed this long existing understanding.

emphasis to the problem of notifying our Embassies abroad of travel of United States citizens with subversive or communist backgrounds and that in the future he plans to have these notifications handled on a higher level than in the past. Mr. Crockett said that Mr. Rusk was concerned about sending out a communication over his signature which indicated that a person "is a communist" when in fact the background information would not support such a statement. He indicated that the language used in these notifications was dangerous. Mr. Crockett stated that when he ended his discussion with Mr. Rusk last evening, the Secretary indicated that he may confer with the Attorney General and the Director concerning this matter. No request was made of the Liaison Agent concerning such a matter.

Mr. Crockett said that he hopes the matter will be straightened out in the very near future and asked that his thanks be expressed to the Director for having this matter brought to his personal attention.

As a result of organization changes within State, the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs is being dissolved and various functions such as visa and passport matters will be under the direct supervision of Deputy Under Secretary William J. Crockett. Abba P. Schwartz, the Administrator of this Bureau, has left his post and the office is now headed by Acting Administrator Philip B. Heymann, formerly a Deputy to Schwartz. Prior to going to State in August, 1965, Mr. Heymann was employed in the Solicitor General's Office. In 1961, the Bureau conducted a departmental applicant investigation which was entirely favorable. Heymann was graduated from Yale in 1954 where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Following this, he studied at the University of Paris and later attended Harvard Law School and received his degree in 1960. At Law School, his scholastic rank at graduation was three out of a class of 468 students.

On 3/11/66 and 3/16/66, Liaison Agent Bartlett called on Miss Frances Knight, Director, Passport Office, State, at her request (it is well known that Miss Knight and Schwartz have long been bitter enemies). Miss Knight's opening comment was "This guy, Heymann, is worse than Schwartz." Miss Knight indicated that Heymann told her that he considered it absolutely unnecessary for the Passport Office to send out communications to posts abroad on U. S. citizens who have a communist background. He particularly mentioned the case of Henry Stuart Hughes, a professor of history at Harvard, who is spending a year teaching in France. He told Miss Knight that he had requested a telegram be sent to the embassies in Paris and Moscow cancelling a prior State Department telegram of 3/8/66 alerting the embassies to Hughes' travel abroad and requesting information that might be developed regarding his activities while abroad. Miss Knight further indicated that Heymann said that someone had leaked to "The New York Times" the fact that State had requested embassies abroad to report on Hughes' activities. She indicated that it was her conviction that Heymann was particularly interested in the Hughes case because he was a Harvard professor.

Hughes was an unsuccessful independent candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1962 while teaching history at Harvard. He has been characterized as having a strong conviction to communism. In 1961, he testified at the hearing for a retrial for convicted Soviet spy Robert A. Soblen. More recently he has indicated opposition to the Government's position in Vietnam and has attempted to organize a group of professors at Harvard to oppose the present position. (more detailed summary enclosed) His name is included in the Reserve Index.

The Department of State very definitely has an interest in the activities of subversives traveling abroad as, in the case of Staughton Lynd, the Yale professor and others who recently traveled to North Vietnam, State is empowered to cancel passports of persons when it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State that the persons' activities abroad are prejudicial to the orderly conduct of foreign relations or otherwise prejudicial to the interest of the United States. In addition, the Bureau definitely is interested in the activities of security subjects while abroad and in connection therewith when we determine that a subject of security interest plans to or is traveling abroad, we advise State, the [redacted] and appropriate legal attaches and request any information that may come to their attention regarding the subject's activities abroad. This was done in the case of Hughes by letter to State, copy for [redacted] and Legal Attache, Paris, dated 2/9/66 at which time full information concerning Hughes was furnished. b3 b7E

RECOMMENDATION:

That the liaison representative contact Deputy Under Secretary of State, William J. Crockett and advise him of our practice of furnishing State pertinent information regarding subversives traveling abroad; that such is done because of State's interest in the activities of these subjects abroad, as well as FBI interest and that a decision as to whether embassies abroad should be alerted is up to State. Further recommend that background of the Hughes' case be explained to Crockett and he be furnished copy of the enclosed memorandum regarding Hughes.

ATTACHED

The "New York Times," of March 23, 1966, contains an article entitled "Miss Knight Given Rebuke for Action Sought by FBI." This article states that according to a State Department spokesman, Miss Knight, Director of Passport Office, had been rebuked by Philip B. Heymann, which was endorsed by William J. Crockett, for her action in asking two embassies to keep an eye on an American professor when he goes to Europe. It was indicated that this action was taken prior to discovery that the information sought was at the request of the FBI. This action on the part of the State Department in naming the FBI will be vigorously protested in the contact with Crockett concerning this matter.

Miss Knight Given Rebuke for Action Sought by F. B. I.

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, March 22—A State Department spokesman said today that Miss Frances G. Knight, director of the department's Passport Office, had been reprimanded by her superiors for cables asking two American embassies to keep an eye on an American professor when he goes to Europe this fall.

The rebuke was contained in a memorandum to Miss Knight from Philip B. Heymann, deputy administrator of the department's Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs. The memorandum was endorsed by William J. Crockett, Deputy Under Secretary of State for Administration.

Dated March 14, it was prepared before bureau officials discovered that the information sought in the cables had been requested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a communication sent to the Passport Office Feb. 6.

Mr. Heymann's memorandum instructed Miss Knight not to seek information of the sort asked in the cables without clearance from the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, of which the Passport Office is a division. No such information is to be sought, the memorandum said, unless it is requested by agencies charged by Congress with investigative responsibilities. The F.B.I. is such an agency.

No such information is to be sought, the memorandum said, unless it is requested by agencies charged by Congress with investigative responsibilities. The F.B.I. is such an agency.

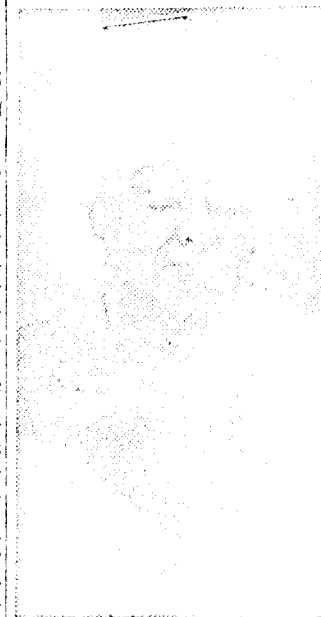

Mr. Heymann said in the memorandum that it was of great importance that investigative responsibilities not be assumed without the request of an authorized agency. Otherwise, the memorandum said, a highly important tradition in a free society will be inadvertently disregarded—the tradition that the movements of American citizens are subject to Government investigation only by those agencies charged by Congress with such functions.

State Department officials had assumed that Miss Knight had sent the messages that prompted the memorandum. She denied that she had, asserting that the date, March 8, on which they were sent fell in a period when she was away from the office for five weeks.

Her Name on Messages

After a thorough check, a State Department spokesman said that, while the messages bore her name as authorizing officer, they had not been signed by her but by someone acting in her stead. The spokesman declined to identify the drafter of the messages.

The messages notified the American embassies in Paris and Moscow that H. Stuart Hughes, a professor of history at Harvard University, intended to go to Europe on a sabbatical leave in the fall.

The messages said that Mr. Hughes had strong pro-Communist convictions. They asked the State Department be notified if pertinent information were received concerning his activities.

When Miss Knight's superiors learned of the cables, new messages were dispatched instructing the embassies to disregard the earlier messages. The State Department spokesman was unable to say whether, in light of the discovery of the request from the F.B.I., the original requests would be reinstated.

Mr. Hughes is a respected scholar who teaches, among others, a popular course at Harvard on European intellectual history. With Dr. Benjamin Spock, the pediatrician, he is co-chairman of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, which advocates disarmament by all nations.

Mr. Hughes ran as an independent candidate for the United States Senate for Massachusetts in 1962. Edward M. Kennedy won the election.

On occasion, right-wingers have accused Mr. Hughes of having Communist leanings. He takes the position that he prefers not to answer such charges because to do so would lend them credence and because they are beneath contempt.

On two occasions, in 1953 and 1955, he experienced delays in getting a passport. Both times, passports were issued to him without any charges being made against him.

He has not yet applied for a passport in connection with the trip he plans this fall. A report of his trip plans was published by The Harvard Crimson, the student newspaper.

Mr. Hughes plans to go to France in September to do research for a book and to teach at a suburban branch of the University of Paris at Nanterre. He plans to travel in France, Italy, England and perhaps Yugoslavia, but not in the Soviet Union.

Miss Knight, who became director of the Passport Office May 1, 1955, has long been a controversial figure in the State Department.

Foiled With Schwartz

She vigorously opposed the policy, initiated in 1962, of giving people who were denied passports because of derogatory security information the right to review the evidence and confront witnesses and informants. In testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee several years ago, she asserted that the regulation "in effect forbids us to protect ourselves," and questioned "whether there actually exists the will" to defend the country from "the inroads of Communism."
